School Based Instructional Coach

Hello and welcome to a brand-new school year. My name is Mr. Korecki and this is my third year at Riverside. My role is the school-based literacy coach formally known as the Dream Catcher coach. Together with our teachers I work to support our students through literacy. This year, Saskatchewan Rivers School division has made some changes to our Home Reading Recommendations. These new recommendations will work to foster a love of reading. We encourage our families to read with your child everyday - children love to choose their own books to listen to. Talk with your child about what you are reading and encourage your child to read to you. This might be a few words, a page or even a whole book. We now know the focus of home reading should be experiencing a wonderful story together, rather than reading for a prescribed amount of time. Sharing a book together helps put focus on rich language development.

Language skills can also be developed through playing, learning and growing together. This includes activities like playing, dancing, talking, cooking or tidying up.

Did you know that your child's brain is almost fully grown when they are just six years old? When you help your child learn before age six, you are building a foundation of social, emotional, physical and academic skills that will last a lifetime.

Activities like dancing, singing, talking, reading, playing and exploring with your child help to build their cognitive skills, language skills, spatial and math concepts, social skills, empathy, motor skills and problem-solving skills.

Play. Learn. Grow. Together!
